This knowledge is the knowledge of good and evil. Nancy Sanders marked it as to-read May 18, Already frustrated by the failures of the hippie generation to build a better world, disillusioned by the Marxism to which he subscribed, and with the drug culture that claimed the lives of some of his friends and nearly his own, he put his faith in Jesus. God determines our love for Him by observing our response to truth. The hatred of Christians explains in part, why some Christians in Pergamum were willing to make so many compromises with the devil. God does not condemn any person for sincerely believing a lie because God knows that our knowledge is limited to our education and experience. The people who are alive during the Great Tribulation will determine their own eternal destiny. In His message to the church at Pergamum, Jesus twice said that Satan had his throne there are harmful consequences for believing lies, but God does not condemn a person for believing something that is untrue.
